EXECUTIVE ACCOUNT MANAGER

WEATHERFORD INDONESIA, a leading multinational oil and gas service company which provides products and service that span the full cycle of drilling, evaluation, completion, production and intervention seeks to add high-powered Executive Account Managers to its team.

This position is seen as a key role in the company continuing its growth in Indonesia and will focus on the company's highest valued customers in Indonesia. A key attribute of a successful candidate will be the person's ability to identify and address opportunities early in the sales cycle, interface between the customer and the WEATHERFORD business units throughout the operational phase and be a conduit between the finance departments as required. The successful candidates will have a proven track record in the field; strong experience in the industry; and a personal understanding of the key customers requirements within the market place.

WEATHERFORD offers career growth in an exciting, challenging and rewarding professional environment both in the position advertised and beyond.

Applications will be treated with the strictest confidence and should be forwarded to:
